

Running has changed my life by Garth Battista (2002)

We can change our life by changing our thinking (replace negative thoughts with positive). My willpower is irrelevant, I run because I feel better at the end. By using what we've been given, we honor God. The more cherished the goal, the more we must work for it.